

GALLIVANT

travel NEWS

Keeping big and little globetrotters on the map and in the know

INTO THE SWING

The Ritz-Carlton, Abama in Tenerife has teamed up with the Annabel Croft Tennis Academy this summer. Top coaches will deliver a variety of classes, from daily drop-in sessions to a 10-hour weekly course, for all ages and abilities. The centre court has capacity for 600 spectators, so you better bring your a-game if you want to impress the other guests... Adult lessons start from €65 per hour, ritzcarlton.com

HOLIDAY HIGH

Luxury travel company Scott Dunn is launching its first alpine adventure programme for summer. Families can enjoy activities within the picturesque mountain resorts, from hiking and geotagging to rafting and canyoning. Part of the company's 'Chill & Thrill' portfolio, the trips have been created with teens in mind. From £1,290 per person for seven nights, scottdunn.com

ESCAPE TO THE LAKE

This August, Ballynahinch Castle Hotel in Ireland is hosting a fly-fishing camp for youngsters aged seven to 12. Aspiring anglers will have an authentic experience in the Connemara countryside learning crucial casting techniques, while parents enjoy their own adventure discovering the stunning mountainscape. 3-5 August, €870 for family of four, ballynahinch-castle.com

The Midi Flyte luggage instantly turns long journeys into a mini adventure!

WHIZZ KIDS

Flyte is about to make family travel a whole lot simpler with its Midi Flyte luggage for kids. The 25-litre bag is secured to the front of a scooter, and when it needs to be stowed away, the easy-to-fold footplate fits into the back of the case. Available in five designs. £69.99, zincflyte.com

Publication: Little London

Publication Type: Consumer Magazine

Date: 7th July 2016

Circulation: 20,000 AVE: £1,725.33